

Toucan Glass Studio has consistently been at the forefront of the development of large scale decorative glass for architectural interiors, pioneering exciting new techniques and displaying a commitment to excellence in both design and product manufacture.

Promoted under the mark of FORGED GLASS our range of textural, patterned, cast and coloured glass sheets are suitable for numerous applications and can be enhanced and customised by a variety of finishes. These include colour applications, obscuring treatments, metallic surface finishes, etching, shape-cutting and edging, adhered embellishments and metalware.

Typically, FORGED GLASS is commissioned for large-scale fit-outs, corporate and commercial environments and residences where quality, innovation and project sensitivity are given equal priority. Ideal for all glazing situations; signage, partitions and internal screens, balustrades, frameless doors, shower assemblies, skylights and roofing.

A texturing process exclusive to Toucan Glass Studio is the "transitional glazing" whereby texture and pattern is merged into clear transparent glass within the same sheet. Numerous situations can benefit from this treatment for example: feature panels can be seamlessly incorporated into larger areas of clear glass: views can be controlled (both in and out) to maximum advantage: frameless shower screens and spa windows are given added intrigue.

FORGED GLASS is available as either toughened or laminated safety glass, where compliance with AS 1288 is required.

Our unique ICE Series - individual high temperature cast glass with a dense translucent crystalline structure is created for exclusive vanity and bench tops as well as furniture inlay, glass bricks, wall and paving tiles, custom lighting, trophies and sculpture.

The company offers a comprehensive design, manufacture and installation service. Specification sheets for standard products, custom fittings accessories are available on request.
